Tell Councilwoman Cindy Bass: Protect Our Health, Protect Our Air -- Stop SEPTA’s Nicetown Gas Plant

SEPTA plans to build a natural gas power plant in Nicetown, near Wissahickon and Hunting Park Ave, to generate electricity for six Regional Rail lines.

The plant would:
-- Release toxic air pollution
-- Harm neighbors’ health
-- Accelerate climate change

The community is already overburdened with air pollution and asthma.

Community residents, SEPTA riders, and environmental and social justice groups are working together to oppose the project. Now we need Councilwoman Bass to take strong leadership action to stop the plant.

What’s the Alternative?
Across the world, transit agencies are beginning to switch to clean renewable energy from wind turbines and solar panels. We are urging SEPTA to do the same.

Make Your Voice Heard!
Please call Council Member Bass’s office and urge her to fight for clean air, public health, and a livable climate by rezoning SEPTA’s Nicetown property to block the plant:
(215) 686-3424.
